ADVICE IF CONSIDERING A FORMAL COMPLAINT OR LEGAL ACTION:
• Preserve evidence (e.g. collect clothing, linens, and bodily fluids, if present).
• Write a complete record of the event.
• Photograph injuries.

In addition to conduct that occurs on Harvard property, the University’s Sexual and Gender-Based Harassment Policy applies off Harvard property if the conduct was in connection with a University or University-recognized program or activity. Information received is treated with the utmost discretion and sensitivity.

SAFETY

In some countries, women reporting rape to the police may be imprisoned for premarital sex.

Your safety is our first priority.

WE CAN:
• Advise on whether or not it’s safe to stay
• Explore options for relocation
• Provide information on local laws and the capabilities of local law enforcement

SUPPORT

Linguistic and cultural differences can impede the quality of care.

Your well-being is vitally important.

WE CAN PROVIDE:
• Access to English-speaking mental health professionals
• Connection to Harvard-specific (e.g. OSAPR) and U.S.-based counseling resources.

MEDICAL

Post-exposure prophylaxis and emergency contraceptives are not universally legal or available.

Your physical needs will be addressed.

WE CAN PROVIDE:
• 24/7 access to professional medical advice
• Referrals to local facilities for care and evidence collection
• Coordination of transportation and payment
• Evacuation to a regional facility, if needed

REPORT

Medical assistance cannot be received in some countries unless a police report has been filed.

Your decision to report is personal.

WE CAN:
• Advise on filing a local police report
• Provide a list of local lawyers
• Contact your local diplomatic representation, if available
• Coordinate with Harvard’s Title IX Office or Office for Sexual and Gender-Based Dispute Resolution
